(Special to The News.)

Payson, Oct. 31.—An enthusiastic Democratic raily was held Saturday night in the Opera House at which W. W. Ray, Jesse Knight, T. N. Taylor and J. B. Millner were the speakers.

Delegates were here from Spanish Fork and Provo. Excellent music was furnished by the Garden City quartet. "Uncle" Jesse Knight was the first speaker. He spoke of the freight and passenger rates in Utah, which, in his opinion, were exorbitant in many cases, and considered a great deal of blame was attached to Republican legislatures who were given power by the Constitution to regulate such matters but refused to act and give the people relief in such matters.

T. N. Taylor of Provo was the next speaker. He denied the contention of the Republican party with reference to the tariff, that the foreigner pays the tax. In his opinion the American manufacturers were getting exorbitant profits on account of a too high protective tariff, to the detriment of the American people.

He appealed earnestly to the voters to reach out their builots to help sup-

DOPE FIEND'S DREAM OVER.

Starts for Smokehouse, but Is Overtaken.

An early morning chase for a "hop-head." who escaped from the city jall this morning, resulted in the capture of the man and his being placed back in the dungeon on bread and water.

Jatler Tom Gillespie has had several "hop-heads," who serve as trustles "beat when they were allowed out in the iail yard. This morning he detailed Chas.

it" when they were allowed out in the jail yerd. This morning he detailed Chas. Nelson, serving 100 days, to take some papers and rubbish to the furnace room. Nelson threw the bucket down as soon as he thought Gillesple was not looking and started for the alleyway that comes out on State street.

Nelson had visions of liberty. He was dreaming of many "shots" when he reached Plum alley, so he hastened. But, the fates were unkind, and it was not to be, for just as he got to the mouth of the alley, and saw in the distance the spires and rooflets of the "house of the thousand smokes," he was doomed to disappointment, dire and sinister.

The dire and sinister one was Patrolman J. M. Lyon, who had been stationed at the mouth of the alley by Jaller Gillesple, to meet just such an emergency. "HI, there, Hoppy," said Lyon, where art thou going this beautiful morning."

The drug fiend started and beat the harrier. Lyon was on his toes and hastened also. As a result he caught Nelson before he had come into even the doors of his beloved alley and brought him, back to jail.

PROBING DANIELS FIRE.

Chief Glore Says He Will Not Stop Until He Learns Truth.

"I am investigating the fire at the Daniels' theater and I shall see that it is brought home to those who caused it, whoever they may be."

"The Daniels theater fire is still a mystery to me. It started in a place where there was nothing that could possibly have caused it and where there was nothing to burn but gas." "It looks to me as if the fire was started by gas, as the building in the cellar was a mass of gas flames when we arrived, but I do not pretend to say at this time, who, or what, started the gas flames, or broke the gas pipes in the basement."

The above are statements made today by Chief Glore of the fire department regarding the recent fire in the Daniels theater and the Bungalow hotel on south State street. He is firm in his contention that the 'fire was started by some means that at present are a mystery. He calls attention to the fact that in the basement of the building where the fire started that there was nothing combustible, and there was nothing combustible, and that when he arrived there with his men the building was a mass of roar-ing gas flames and the entire building so full of gas fumes that the firemen were nearly overcome.

Max Daniels after the fire stated that Max Daniels after the fire stated that only two people, Max Florence and the night watchman, White, had keys to the building. The night watchman said that he had been in the building shortly before the fire and found nothing burning then. Mr. Daniels was at the building early in the evening and passed the building coming from the theater shortly before the alarm at nearly 1 o'clock.

the theater shortly before the anarm at nearly 1 o'clock.

Mr. Daniels is reported to have offered a reward of $2,000 for the discovery of the origin of the fire. The insurance people are also quoted as saying they will give a like amount.

Chief Glore laughs at the statement made that he tried to keep the fire lossmade that he tried to keep the fire loss-es of the city down by underestimating the damage done. He says that this is silly, because his annual report is made from figures furnished by the in-surance adjusters after all losses are settled for.

She started out under the auspices of the Wide Wide World magazine, but as sho stated at the Cullen this morning. 'I am doing the trip on my own account as the magazine apparently wants me to pay my own expenses and then give them a story for nothing. In the meantime she is selling postcards and giving exhibitions."

The young woman attired in the recognized magazine cowgirl costume attracted considerable attention on the streets this morning for in addition to her wild west appearance she limped painfully from the effects of her strenuous experience of being lost on the desert for two days between Wells, Nev., and Salt Lake. Following the advice of local wise-acres she undertook to take a cut-off and wandered 75 miles completely lost until she struck the Western Pacific tracks. She came into town via the salt beds, the southern end of the lake and Grantsville. One night she slept on the depot platform at Knowles with her mare tied to a baggage truck. Without food and water for long intervals the trip was most arduous and she wore through the soles of her riding boots while leading her mare in search of a trail.

Miss Aspinwall will rest up in Salt Lake for a week, her mount being in a local livery stable, and she will resume her lonely ride following the Denver & Rio Grande to Denver.

FILES DAMAGE CLAIM.

Robert Coverdale of 466 Fourth avenue claims in a petition filed with the city recorder for the council's consideration that the negligence of the city in grading Fourth avenue in front of his strading Fourth avenue in front of his property has damaged him $371 and demands compensation in that sum. The grading of the street, Coverdale asserts, stopped up the drain courses, so that the surface water from rains flooded his cellar Oct, 8 and destroyed and indured personal property to the extent of the claim.

Unforeseen Delays in the Completion of Our New Store Force Us to Make Deeper and More General Reductions

This morning the contractor in charge of fitting and furnishing of the new store, began upon the installation of the fixtures—two weeks later than originally planned. The room proper should have been completed and turned over to him on the 1st of the present month (October). The result is that we will be delayed more than half a month in the occupancy of the new store and consolidation with the Richardson & Adams company. Fully relying upon the promises and agreements of the contractors to finish our rooms by the 1st of November, we ordered thousands of dollars' worth of goods to arrive by that date. For more than three weeks they have been arriving by the case, the box and the bale. We have three floors of the present store packed to overflowing, two storerooms filled, and a storage ware house rapidly filling. The first half of November is the busiest period of the year aside from the holidays. It is the season of heavy buying for winter. Deprived of the new store, we must resort to heroic measures to dispose of a large part of these goods in our present location. Deeper reductions and a greater volume of goods from which to select offer inducements which you can't afford to neglect. Save money on your clothing.
